Abstract (en)

The clip (6) is shaped from a metal strip with trapezoidal cross-section with the small base line of the trapezoid pointing to the inside of the clip. The small base line is preferably undulating at least in part to form swages on the inward facing surface of the clip. The ends of the clip are bent back outwards in the plane of the clip. The smallest angle of the trapezoid should be no greater than 60 degrees and preferably between 40 and 50 degrees. The clip is preferably made of aluminium.
