Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0873705A2] The drawer or box has a releasable bar (13,14) for retaining or holding objects. The bar has at least one first wall part (15) parallel with the partition against which it rests, and at least one second wall part (20) resting directly on the floor (30) of the compartment. At least one protuberance (12) protrudes into an opening (11) in the partition (6). The first wall part extends as far as the top edge (23) of the partition, and has a sprung hooked part (21,22) which grips over the top edge. The bar extends over the entire active length of the partition.
