Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0877211A2] The junction box has a mounting plate fastened to the wall. The plate has wall-side and heater-side connectors with through openings for guides such as supply and return pipes for heating circuits, cold and waste water and gas pipes. The mounting-side connectors of the plate (10) are spacedly axially parallel to the connection-side outwardly extending connecting stubs (20) for the pipes installed under the plaster. There are connecting stubs (22) against the wall side of the plate for pipes under the plaster.
