Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9731604A1] Absorbent articles (2) such as sanitary napkins, panty liners, and adult incontinence pads are disclosed that have a protective sheet (50) for protecting adhesive layers (40, 44) provided on opposite longitudinal side edges (30) of the absorbent article (2), such as on flaps (10) that are folded around leg openings of the garment and back flaps (210) that stay in widespread state in the garment. The protective sheet (50) has a pair of side edges (53) extending in the longitudinal direction and a pair of end edges (54, 56) having a first end edge and a second end edge. The end edges (54, 56) connect the side edges (53). The first end edge (54) extends generally in the transverse direction and includes an inclined portion (57) inclining with respect to the transverse direction.
