Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2747071A1] A method for capturing an image (12) printed on a substrate (10), particularly a colour image (12) printed on a sheet (10) of paper is characterised in that it comprises the steps of covering the image (12) with a liquid paste (14), said paste having a particularly affinity for retaining printing inks, allowing the paste to solidify so as to form a plate and removing said plate from the substrate (10) with the image captured on all or part of the plate, on a surface thereof that previously faced the image. The invention also encompasses the recreational article obtained, implementing said method.
