Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0893207A1] A workbench has two pairs of support members (2, 16) which each carry a jaw (14). The members (2, 16) may be moved pivotally between two orthogonal positions and automatically locked into either of these positions. A manually operable arm (18) co-operates with a specially shaped channel (26) in order to allow this operation to occur. <IMAGE>
