Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0893210A1] The knife-blade (16) guided along the duct (15) in the hollow handle (11) is connected to a pusher (17) which has at least one handling facility (18). The end (35) of the handle facing away from the blade has at least one handling component (18) operated by the thumb. The handle has a front part (33) next to an outlet (36) for the blade, and has a back part (35) in the form of an extension part (14). The middle part (34) of the handle is gripped by the fingers. The control for the pusher, facing away from the outlet is outside the finger-grip part.
