Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0896187A1] The device has an adjustment lever (17) with one end (18) attached to the pivoting mask (15). The lever extends across the reflector (4) transversely to the reflector axis (19) with its free end projecting from an opening (22) in the rear wall of the lamp housing. The opening is offset laterally to the reflector and has a longitudinal axis (24) approximately in parallel with the reflector axis.
