Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0896194A1] The baking compartment is formed as a separate module to the insert and can be fitted to the insert and removed from it. It has a flue gas inlet connection connectable to the insert flue gas outlet connection and also has a flue gas outlet connection. The insert (1) on its upper side has a flue gas outlet connection (4), which is formed as a pipe connection emerging from the upper side. The baking compartment (2) in module form has its flue gas inlet connection (3) fitted onto the flue gas outlet connection, the flue gas connections being so stably formed that the baking compartment is solely supported by the insert via the flue gas connection union.
