Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9742350A1] According to the process of treating leather and the like, spread pieces of leather to be treated (1) are put on respective open supports (2). These supports (2), with spread pieces of leather carried thereon, are introduced into at least one container (4), kept in depression and sealed for the introduction therein of suitable treating liquid solutions so that at least soaking, liming, pickling, tanning and re-tanning steps can be performed on the leather pieces. Each liquid solution (5) is swirled during the corresponding leather (1) treatment step.
