Abstract (en)

[origin: US6079730A] The platform (1) comprises a rigid part (3) and an elastic part (4), the latter extending asymmetrically relative to the axis of the platform and continuously in a zone located above one of the edges (12) of the ski, which constitutes the outer edge of the ski, while the rigid part (3) is in direct contact with the ski on the side corresponding to the other edge (11), which constitutes the inner edge of the ski. A ski equipped in this way is less sensitive to edging mistakes.
