Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0899530A1] The invention relates to a support (1) for supporting ceramic products, in particular roofing tiles. The support (1) is built up of a framework consisting of interconnected longitudinal wires (12-15) and cross wires (6,7,10,11), to which supporting elements (29,32,33) for locally supporting the ceramic products during the drying process are attached. The support is thereby provided on each of its sides with two wires which are disposed one above the other. <IMAGE>
