Abstract (en)

[origin: US6115982A] An assembly for mounting a panel at a corner between a pair of generally perpendicular wall surfaces has a mounting strip extending longitudinally along the corner, having a seat engaging an edge of the panel, retaining the panel edge against one of the surfaces, and formed with a longitudinally extending and transversely open slot. A trim strip extends longitudinally along the corner in engagement with the panel and the other wall surface and is formed with a longitudinally extending and transversely projecting lip engaged tightly in the slot.
