Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0903293A1] The procedure consists of placing the gloves (30) flat on two neighboring supports (1,2) positioned so that part of the gloves is on one and another part on the other. A separator card (10) is then placed on one part of the gloves. The other part is folded over onto the card, and the folded gloves and card are moved towards a packaging unit. At least one of the two supports is in the form of a belt or roller mechanism which is used to pass the folded gloves to the packaging unit, where they are enclosed between two layers of welded and thermo-shrink film in a rigid surround with a suspension ring.
