Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9806004A1] The invention concerns packaging for a dental x-ray film (2), comprising a light protective envelope (1) to receive the dental x-ray film (2), said envelope having two tearaway strips (3, 4) and an envelope which protects against x-rays designed to hold a lead sheet that offers protection against x-rays. The light protective envelope (1) is made from a moisture resistant material. The envelope which protects against x-rays is formed by a pocket (6) on one of the lateral faces (12) of the light protective envelope (1) which is created by an additional side panel and is open on one side.
