Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0919481A1] The box, designed to hold a product in a container such as a supple tube, is made by folding a single panel of a sheet material to make the walls (2, 4, 6, 8) and flaps (28) of the box and an inner wedging element (E). The wedging element has sides (14, 18) located inside the side walls (2, 6) and having V-shaped slots in one end to engage with the bottom of the tube and guide it into place when inserted. The main face (4) of the box has a window (5) covered with a transparent film layer to display its contents.
