Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9824349A1] Disclosed is a hang type console intended for use preferably in a household for putting away clothes, whitewear garments, shoes, etc., and to be fixed to a wall, a door edge (1) or possibly a heating unit. The inventive console is characterized in that, in order to avoid a whole range of embodiments, a new adaptive link is provided which enables the hang type console (3) to be selectively combined with a securing element (2), depending on the existing setting up possibility.
