Abstract (en)

[origin: DE19640574A1] A banknote container (10) which can be inserted into a reception module with a front panel actuated by an actuating lever (20) and a catch lever (28) which can be moved between a release position, a first intermediate position in which the catch lever (28) is dependent on the opening movement of the actuating lever (20) and a lock position wherein the catch lever (28) holds the actuating lever (20) firmly in a closed position. Catch lever (28) is coupled to an electromechanical control device (58). Upon insertion of banknote container (10) said control device enables catch lever (28) to be moved into a mechanically engaged second intermediate position. Catch lever (28) can be moved out of a second intermediate position into a release position dependent on the closed position of actuating lever (20).
