Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0930467A2] The plastic panel (1), has injection molded mountings for the controls and switches and holes (2,3,4) for knobs and displays (5). Control devices, electronic controls and/or displays snap into these. The electrical conductors are embedded in the panel by the same or other processes with projecting terminations with which the above devices automatically make contact when they are fitted. Unused holes can have covers
