Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0931499A1] The arrangement includes an electric socket (4) for control or operation of an expansion device, arranged parallel to a seating element (2) at a vacuum cleaner casing (1). An inserted nozzle (5) for a connection of the suction tube is equipped additionally with a cup-like wall, to form a reception space (7), which overlaps the socket arranged at the seating element. The area of the wall forming the reception space is formed as a separately changeable element, and serves alternatively for the recording of an inserted plug.
