Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0941934A1] A stackable shopping basket (10) in which the proximal side wall (18) is inwardly curved in a contour adapted to an adult human user's body. The opposite or distal side wall (19) may also been curved with a contour that is symmetrical with the proximate side wall. The side walls and end walls (20) have an outwardly-turned peripheral top edge forming a lip (22), the lip being extended downward along at least a portion of the proximal side wall to form a cushion portion (28). Stand-off fins (27) are provided along the periphery of the basket between the lip and the end walls and side walls other than the cushion portion. A centrally located handle (34) projects from the bottom of the basket and defines a channel through the bottom wall of the basket for nesting identical baskets in a stack. The grip (40) of the handle is orientated along the longitudinal axis of the basket. The grip may have a detachable cover (36) to display advertising. <IMAGE>
