Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0943454A1] The broad spring clip has a flat back portion which may be fastened to a horizontal or vertical surface. The ends of the clip are bent through 180 degrees . One end is short and curved away from the back at the extreme end. The other end is straight and extends approximately parallel to the back portion or sloping slightly towards it. The two ends press together with a spring action and may grip a sheet of paper or other object. The long straight end fits under the short curved end.
