Abstract (en)

[origin: DE19806884A1] The machine door can be opened and closed automatically. The door is held shiftably in the direction of the drum (21) rotation for the purpose of opening and closing. An operating component (26) is located outside the drum (21) on a fixed site and enables the door to be lowered into the drum at least by one its side, for the door to be positioned in a torsion-resistant manner, and to be lifted out again out of a lowered position.
