Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9817601A1] The invention relates to a process for realising decorated ceramic tiles. It comprises: association of a decal with a layer of ceramic material in agglomerate or powder form, destined to form a tile, in a tile-forming die for ceramic tiles; pressing the decal and ceramic material to form an unfired tile which on one face contains an image reproduced on the decal; extracting the tile from the die; firing the tile.
