Abstract (en)
[origin: DE19701255A1] The invention relates to device commonly known as merchandise bag for displaying flat and flexible objects. The invention provides an economical and simple device for the display of flat and flexible objects (merchandise box), which is specially suitable for modular display systems, e.g. display racks or display consoles. Flat and specially non-rigid display goods can be always held upright, and can be reliably inserted and withdrawn. According to the invention, this is done by configuring the bottom (1), the rear wall (7) and the sidewalls (2, 3) as a single-pieced plastic injection molded part. At least one of the sidewalls (2, 3) is flexibly configured at least in one of its segments as a clamp (5, 6) holding the inserted objects in upright position.
