Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0967335A2] A compact water supply system for a bath with shower attachment has the hot and cold water feeds (18,19) connected to a cylindrical mixer housing (10) which is located with vertical axis between the edge of the bath and the end wall, with the temperature and volume controls on an upper flange (17) set flush with the upper edge of the bath. The mixed water is fed by a single pipe (15) either directly to the water inlet (16) for the bath or to a second cylindrical housing (20) mounted in a similar manner as the first cylindrical housing and with a control (22) to switch the water between the shower attachment (23) and the bath inlet.
