Abstract (en)
Improved assembly mock-up, which reproduces any object, figure or construction and which is obtained by means of the assembly of one or more Bristol board templates or the like, said template or templates being suitably die-cut and independent, and which are complemented with narrow independent strips and of the same material, said strips being provided with a longitudinal recessed line. Sections are cut from said strips by means of which the attachment and assembly of the body obtained as from the die-cut template or templates are obtained. <IMAGE>
