Abstract (en)

Textile containment ribbon (1) able to be wound around crude rubber tubes to effect a structural containment thereof during the subsequent vulcanisation phase. The ribbon (1) presents a series of warp threads (2) enmeshed with a series of sections formed by one or more woof threads (3) to form a compact reticular structure. The warp threads (2) present the same count and the same density as the woof sections (3), thereby making the ribbon (1) easy to weld to another by means of ultrasonic welding. <IMAGE>
