Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0993014A2] The housing is attached to the edge (17) of a receptacle (16). The edge has an opening (23) into which the housing at least partially engages.. The opening has two side boundaries (24) and is open towards the outer edge (18). When assembled, the housing is a mechanical connection between the side boundaries, and closes the force transmission train along the edge.
