Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0995375A1] The neck and/or head support is a padded body (11) on a stirrup (12) at the backrest of the seat. The padded body (11) has an eccentric rotation, and can be locked to the supporting stirrup (12) in each position. The stirrup (12) is passed through a longitudinal drilling in the body, offset from its center. The body (11), locked in its rotated position, is released by a side sliding movement against a spring.
