Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0997083A2] The coin holder (1) has a flat surface (6) attached to the inside of the closure flap (2) of the wallet or briefcase along the free edge of the latter and each of its sides via stitching or an adhesive, the remaining longer side edge of the flat surface attached to the closure flap at discrete points, to provide a number of coin insertion openings. Each of the latter openings may be associated with a respective coin compartment (3,4), defined by attaching the surface to the closure flap around an arc corresponding in curvature to the size of the coin to be accommodated.
