Abstract (en)
A golf glove with a plurality of spaced ribs (31,32,33,34,35) formed on the palm side of the golf glove is disclosed. Each rib closely contacts with the golf club and is substantially parallel to the longitudinal axis of the golf club when in use, so that the golfer can hold the golf club correctly. Further, the golfer can grip the golf club steadily without slipping even under wet condition. <IMAGE>
