Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1001400A2] For the display of product and/or price information, a support housing has at least one view container in which are individual view compartments for the accommodation of product and/or price information. The support housing (2) comprises a rear wall (9) with upper and lower holding cheeks (7,8). In the assembled state, the cheeks engage around upper and lower edge areas of the view container. At least one sprung holding component (10) is provided between the upper holding cheek and the rear wall and between the lower holding cheek and the rear wall, by means of which the upper and lower cheeks are unreleasably connected with the rear wall.
