Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1002558A2] The method involves optically detecting at least part of the skittle field (1) with least one image acquisition device (5). Fallen and/or standing skittles (2) are detected using image data; the recorded image data are evaluated in an image processor and compared with defined image data to control a skittle placement arrangement (10) which picks up the skittles and positions them in the skittle field or in a skittle depot. An Independent claim is also included for an arrangement for Placing skittles on a skittle alley.
