Abstract (en)

[origin: DE19852892A1] The decorative coatings applicator has coating feeds for the individual panels and can coat all panels at once and again with different materials, using the force of gravity for the flowable coating feed. The decorative material containers (5-10) above the applicator stencil each have a material outlet (20), with each panel allotted at least one container (5-10) and the base of the container registering with one of the panels at least. The outlet holes (20) should be distributed over the panel area for simultaneous application, using slide (21) to close off the outlets, the slide itself perforated to register with the outlets to allow for conjoint outlet closure. The container baseplate (2) has a hole pattern identical to the arrangement of the container outlets.
