Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1006055A2] The toothbrush is packed in a blister-type package comprising a locator (2) for the brush and a plastics accommodation part (3) shaped to correspond to the form of the brush. The package has an optical display arrangement (4) on which is an information carrier. The carrier incorporates at least two graphic presentations deviating from one another. Above the information carrier is a lens arrangement (6) containing a number of lens components so formed and arranged that on observation of the information carrier through the lens arrangement from different angles one of the graphic presentations is visible on the information carrier.
