Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1008962A2] The user panel has an input field (I) that is subdivided into a number of sectors (I-1 to I-4). The first sector has a number of soft keys (S1-S5) that allow a number of basic menus to be selected. The second section allows sub menus to be called and the third is used for display activation. Numerical values are entered using the fourth one. A home key is provided for return to show the franking data on the display panel (O).
