Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9911443A1] A unitary concrete product mold (134) formed from a central member (136) having an array of product-shaping molds bounded by side and end portions. Support rails (138, 140) mounted on the bottom surface of the central member (136) limit deflection of the central portion of the central member (136), improving product quality and reducing mold wear.
