Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9854070A1] The invention concerns a bag for transporting and intermediate storing of bulk goods, more particularly designed to co-operate with the fork lift arms, comprising lifting straps (2) fixed along the bag vertical edges such that, when no external forces are exerted, the top (3) of the loop formed by each strap does not substantially exceed in height the bag top surface plane. The straps (2) are fixed in pairs in two groups, the straps of the same group being fixed on the same side of the bag so as to be stacked projecting frontwards. The straps (2) are linked in pairs by linking means (4) forming a tube, the linking means (4) consisting of pieces of cloth sewn on the straps and matching at least partially their outline.
