Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1028059A2] Method for the sequential storage of hides transported by a conveying surface on which said hides are positioned one after the other, comprising the following operations: driving and deposit of the hides from the conveying surface onto at least one flexible foil; winding of the flexible foil with the hides on a rotary support to form a spool. The method is implemented by means of a winding machine comprising a frame (2) that supports a winding unit (6) and an unwinding unit (7) of the flexible foil (4). <IMAGE>
