Abstract (en)
Furniture (particularly tables) include first and second edges extending in side by side relationship adjacent one another, the edges including respective longitudinal slots or grooves. A securing element is received in a slot or groove of one of the edges and extends across the divide to be received in a slot or groove of the other adjacently extending edge so as to hold the edges. The grooves or slots are preferably provided in pairs for each edge, arranged in 'V' configuration. <IMAGE> <IMAGE>
