Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9918800A1] Methods and kits for removing, treating or preventing head lice infestations in patients in need of such treatment are disclosed and include topically applying to the lice-infested are an effective amount of a pediculostatic agent for a time sufficient to immobilize the lice, so that they exhibit the immersion reflex, followed by combing to remove the lice and nits. The method optionally includes application of a pediculocide with the pediculostatic agent.
