Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0016677A1] A container (Z) serving particularly for transporting and storing food and drinks, comprising fixing means or securing means for retaining a function-specific insert (E) in the inner space of said container. Said insert (E) is used to accommodate one or several objects and/or heating or cooling the inner space of said container. By selecting and mounting one or more such inserts (E), the container can be easily adapted to, equipped and re-equipped for individual applications.
