Abstract (en)
Lift for raising persons from a seated position to a standing position and vice versa. This lift consists of a frame which extends essentially vertically and is of mobile construction. A lifting arm which is driven by a motor is located close to the top end. A support belt, support vest or the like is, on the one hand, attached to the free end of the lifting arm and, on the other hand, is arranged beneath the armpits or around the chest of the user. To enable the movement from the seated to the standing position to proceed with the maximum possible control it is proposed to fit a pelvic support which moves with the lifting arm during the standing movement. <IMAGE>
