Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1042970A2] The buckle (30) has upper and lower frames (20,10) which are each formed by two side elements (21,11) and front and rear elements (22,23;12,13). The frames are constructed in such a way that they are unable to move with respect to one another in a certain direction once the buckle closes.
