Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9933375A1] This invention concerns an ordinary brush such as a yard brush or similar that is complemented in such a way that it can simply and comfortably also be used to brush clean a shoe or other footwear, primarily on the underside. This is achieved by the bristle holder section of the brush, which is formed in a conventional way with a long flat surface (5) from which downwardly pointing bristles (2) extend out in clusters essentially at right angles from the surface of the bristle holder, also being provided with upwardly pointing bristles on the upper side.
