Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1063368A1] The work platform (2) is set up using a device (1) with a bracket (3) or support section (12), against which the platform can rest. The support section or a support part (4) of the bracket allows one side (5) of the platform to be rested against a counter-bearing or a wall (7). A second support part (9) on this and the opposite side (6) of the platform also allows the platform to be rested against a counter-bearing or a wall (8). A safety device (10) on this opposite side is used to lock the set-up device into position whilst the platform is being used.
