Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2777165A1] The invention concerns a body ornament designed to be glued on the skin, fabric or any support, comprising a flexible plastic piece (1) whereof the lower surface is substantially planar and capable of receiving a hypoallergenic adhesive, and whereof the upper surface comprises raised designs (2-4). The invention is characterised in that said piece comprises, over its whole periphery, a marginal zone (6) extending between the piece outer peripheral edge and said raised designs, said marginal zone having a slight thickness relative to that of said raised designs.
