Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1075817A2] The floor mop has a container (10) for cleaning liquid in the center of the handle. A knob (40) at the top of the handle pushes down a rod passing through the upper section (30) of the handle and in turn a second rod passing through the container. This activates a dispensing valve (22) in the lower container mounting (14) which allows cleaning liquid to reach the mop head.
