Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1080644A1] A composite comestible product, such as a product for freshening the breath, which includes in an assembly to be eaten as a whole: a first part (2) with respective first taste-giving agents, which can be attacked once placed in the consumer's mouth, thereby releasing the said first taste-giving agents, a second part (3), connected to the said first part (2) and including second taste-giving agents (3), the said second part (3) also being attackable when placed in the consumer's mouth, thereby releasing the said second taste-giving agents. The first (2) and the second (3) parts define together a volume for containing a third part (4) of the product which includes respective third taste-giving agents. <IMAGE>
